

INC. MAGAZINE REVEALS ANNUAL LIST OF BEST WORKPLACES FOR 2020

with standout employee engagement

El Dorado Hills, CA (May 6, 2020) – boardsi has been named to Inc. magazine’s annual list of the Best Workplaces for 2020. Hitting newsstands May 12 in the May/June 2020 issue, and as part of a prominent Inc.com feature, the list is the result of a wide-ranging and comprehensive measurement of private American companies that have created exceptional workplaces through vibrant cultures, deep employee engagement, and stellar benefits.

boardsi is an opportunity platform on which both executives and companies can search for the ideal fit that suits their skills and experience.

Collecting data from more than 3,000 submissions, Inc. singled out 395 finalists for this year’s list. Each nominated company took part in an employee survey, conducted by Quantum Workplace, on topics including trust, management effectiveness, perks, and confidence in the future. Inc. gathered, analyzed, and audited the data. Then we ranked all the employers using a composite score of survey results. This year, 73.5 percent of surveyed employees were engaged by their work.

The strongest engagement scores came from companies that prioritize the most human elements of work. These companies are leading the way in employee recognition, performance management, and diversity. It is a different playbook from a decade ago, when too many firms used the same template: free food, open work environments, and artifacts of “fun.”

“boardsi strives to treat each employee as if they are part of the family. We have an engaged and motivated workforce, in which everyone is excited about bringing their ideas to the table. We strive to improve our customer service, and we believe a positive work environment is the key to our success. Since we work with executives, we must bring positive energy and new ideas into every session.” - Martin Rowinski, boardsi CEO

“Building a great corporate culture comes only from strong leadership,” says Inc. magazine editor-in-chief Scott Omelianuk. “The companies on Inc.’s Best Workplaces list are setting an example that the whole country can learn from, especially now, when company culture is more important to the workforce than ever.”

While researching the finalists, Inc. and Quantum saw distinct themes:

- 100 percent provide health insurance.
- 50 percent allow employees to bring pets to work.
- 62 percent take employees to offsite retreats to relax and recharge.
- 20 percent offer paid sabbaticals to reward length of service.

About boardsi:

Boardsi has created an efficient way for both sides of the coin. Boardsi is a technology company that matches up high-level executives with organizations that are in need of advisors or board members. Unlike the lengthy headhunter process, boardsi has streamlined the matchmaking process. Our talent ranges from executives that are looking to secure their first advisory position to seasoned C suite executives that have sat on many boards but all are looking to find the perfect match. This rings true for the small start-up business looking for guidance, to the business looking to go public, to the business that is already very successful wanting to launch a new product in a new industry or expand into other countries. The only options before were word of mouth and costly retained search firms, both are not very efficient. The issue that we have tackled as a company is matching the Executive that wants to provide knowledge and help with the business that needs it or could benefit from it.
